

A pleasant warm summer's evening with the old one that got away story in full flow over cold beers and the girls cooking the steaks on the BBQ.

Southsea Spearfishing Club is one of the largest clubs in the country, with a long history in the sport and we can boast that we have the current British Champion Graham Worley in our ranks and also the winning team thanks to Graham, Dave & Dan Bailey not to mention the FA cup. Southsea have been strong supporters of the National committee over the years and have four members on the committee at present. We are also proud of members Dave Pearce and Keith Eayrs representing Great Britain in Venezuela 2008 World Championships. We are a family orientated club and are holding our dive this year at Talland Bay in the West Country and as usual will be camping on block, as we do most years with community Bar B Qs and great games of Cricket. Southsea also holds the claim to inventing the game of Octopush, now a worldwide sport, after a few lads started knocking a lead weight around with their snorkels in the early sixties. Our top diver over the last few years is Dave Bailey seven times British Champion.
